NOEWAY AND VICINITY.

Did They Try to Wreck the Train?
The other day as a certain man was walking on the railroad track between Roxe and South Paris, he removed a good sized piece of iron lying on the rail, evidently put there by some one who either wished to derail the train, or see how near they could come to it; but nevertheless whoever the person or child was, or what his motive could be, he or she ought to know better and if he doesn't he should be taught in pretty quick order.

It also happened the piece of iron on the track was near the bridge, one of the very worst of places. Thus, some decidedly thoughtless individual put no knowing how many people in danger of losing their lives. Undoubtedly this was done by some child meaning no harm, or knowing no danger, but even then a railroad track is no place for a child to play, and especially if he or she has no more comprehension of danger than displayed in this act.

Mrs. Mary J. Bennett has a nice bed of tulips in bloom. First seen growing out of doors this season.
Freeland Howe, Jr., is in Rumford
Falls and Augusta this week on business.
During his absence his wife is at his father's, Freeland Howe, Sr.'s.

Timothy Smith has returned from Lewiston. He is at Capt. W. W. Whitmarsh's, and is enjoying seeing and talking to his numerous friends in this vicinity.

Rev. Cyrus P. Osborne, secretary of Boston Seaman's Friend Society, will be at the Congregational church, Sunday morning, May 16 and will speak in behalf of the society.

John Shorey and wife of the Pequawket House, Conway, N. H., spent Sunday with Mrs. H. O. Stimson. They came through with their auto. They were a little less than three hours coming over.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Hastings of Aus-burn came by train from Auburn, Monday, en route for Gilead, their former home. They stayed at the Beal's hotel
Monday night and because of the rain Tuesday morning Mrs. Hastings finished the journey to Gilead by train. Mr.
Hastings is sheriff of Androscoggin county.

Did anyone notice the sign attached to Dr. B. F. Bradbury's auto, Tuesday?
The hieroglyphics are rather mystifying and in fact look as if they were wrong side up and inside out, and remind one of something like the "VANDERBILT"
A certain few around town say, "Guess Doc is treating his patients on bananas and strawberries." It seems the doctor was out of town the night before and by some unknown way, this sign of Finnish origin which the doctor somewhat admired came into his possession.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U.
was held at the Baptist church, Tuesday afternoon, May 11. Officers for the coming year were appointed and the convention which is to be held at West Paris talked over. After the business meeting a short entertainment was enjoyed after which fruit punch and fancy crackers were served. The entertainment was as follows:
Vocal duet..... Mrs. J. H. Whitmore
Remarks..... Rev. Mr. Whitmore
Solo..... Mrs. Harold Anderson
Duet..... Mrs. Richard Stiles
Remarks..... Rev. Mr. Whitmore
Piano duet..... Mrs. R. D. Rouse
Grand Lodge, F. & M. No. 182 of West Paris, held a special communication Monday evening to which an invitation had been extended to the different lodges in this vicinity. There were some over 30 members of Oxford Lodge left Norway at 7 o'clock and team and attended the meeting at West Paris.
The visiting lodge conferred the third degree followed by the conferring of the same degree by the past master of the local lodge. At the close of the work a fine supper was served in I. O. O. F. hall. Music, toasts, and speeches were then in order and at a late hour the visitors started for home after spending a most enjoyable evening, in every way.

Among those who went from Norway were:
H. D. Smith, C. M. Smith,
Geo. L. Gurn, R. O. Porter,
A. L. Proctor, W. F. Tabbs,
Edwin Richardson, W. F. Tabbs,

Those from Oxford were:
John Robinson, Dr. H. R. Farris,
Willard Gammon, Dr. W. Twitchell,
O. A. Loveland, Geo. Hazen,
Carroll Gentry, H. O. Blake.
Interesting speeches were made by H.
D. Smith, Benton L. Swift, G. W. Q.
Perham and Geo. W. Hammond. At the close of the evening Geo. L. Curtis extended an invitation to Granite Lodge of West Paris and Jefferson Lodge of Exton, to visit Oxford Lodge at Norway, Friday evening May 23.

Norway Grammar vs. Bryant Pond High.
Norway Grammar school played Bryant Pond High school at the Fair Grounds, Thursday night after school with a score 21 to 10.
The Bryant Pond team did not hold together in the first inning the Bryant Pond team went to pieces and was so nearly out of the game that they were every other inning throughout the game.
Moore pitched a fine game of ball but got a little rattled once in a while. A.
Klain pitched the last inning.
Cummings, the Bryant Pond pitcher, was slightly poor, but Crockett who pitched the last five innings was a little better.

The best thing for the grammar team is to place Russell on second, McDaniel third, and Shepard short. Score:

Wednesday last week the South Paris grammar had 8 to their credit, and the Paris High school 2ds, 6 in a game played on the high school grounds.
Radcliffe and Hebron Next Saturday.
The Radcliffe club open the season at the Fair grounds next Saturday at 3:30 p. m. This game will be partly in the nature of a try-out as Manager Leith has several new players to fill positions until the regular line up appears a little later.
Hebron is the opposing club and they will bring over a pretty lively bunch, in fact they appear stronger than usual so will fight until the last man is down.

The Radcliffe manager promises a strong team to meet this visiting delegation, so an interesting contest is assured.
All real fans know that "Big Bill" never fails to deliver the goods and the first practice game will be no exception. A new catcher has been secured so Bill can just let out to his hearts content.

Edna Hazelton of Greenleaf Ave., is visiting her parents in Norway.
Arthur Hayden of Rochester N. Y., is spending a few weeks with his grandmother, Mrs. Clara A. Hayden. Mr.
Hayden has a fine position as manager of Gray's information bureau.
Merton L. Kimball drove over to Rumford Falls by team to attend court.
Nearly to Rumford he came to a brook that overflowed the road. He drove in and the water became deeper and deeper till it reached the wagon bottom. The horse slipped and fell, and seemed to be unable to get up. Lawyer Kimball was obliged to get out in the icy water to save the horse. He had great difficulty in dragging the animal to dry land. No serious results to either man or horse.

John O. Ripley, living on Oxford St., South Paris, Me., says:—"I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and take great pleasure in giving them my recommendation. I was feeling quite miserable and had been suffering for some months from dull pains through the small of my back and across my loins. My kidneys were not acting in a normal manner and the secretions were very unnatural in appearance. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I went to F. A. Shurtleff A Co's drug store, and procured a box. I used them in accordance with the directions, the pains disappeared and my kidneys ceased to trouble me."

"Be Careful What You Say"

Written for the Advertiser.

This world is a beautiful world indeed, if we only would live the right way. But I'm sure 'twas not made for gossip alone. So be careful what you say.

For harsh words once spoken can ne'er be recalled. What you keep by you can change if you may. However humble your station or feeble your power.

Be careful, oh do, what you say. As a bad penny wanders it may sometime return. Gossiping for itself no brighter rays;

So may our thoughtless light spoken words, Let's be careful we know what we say. If you see a man struggling in trouble and sin, Don't turn from him nor make delays,

Just give to him kind and encouraging words, But be careful won't you what you say? False witnesses are recorded in the great Book of Life.

For each one to answer some day; Isn't it better by far to show kindness to all, To be careful each one what you say? "Judge not one another" were the Master's own words.

"Forgiveness for sin I repay." If you hear a word for a world where Gossips are not, Be sure you know just what you say. East Stoneham, Me. MA-BELL.

The Versionist.

Not unfrequently there comes among us someone possessed with a new version of the Bible; or better, someone with a new construction placed on the different portions of the Bible.

It would seem no one could conscientiously change a sentence nor manufacture some version entirely foreign to its real meaning, for the sake of emphasis and new writh.

The Messiah says, Pray,—"Lead us not into temptation." "This is not right, we need temptations."

In trying to prove fallacy in the Lord's prayer, that is really so sublime and perfect, he makes himself greater than his maker.

Yet the Bible says simply, "Ye are Gods." Temptations come without asking.

We need to pray "Lead us not into temptation." Again if Jehovah has caused to be written the command "Pray without ceasing," try and believe it is really best for erring mortals to keep ever within the heart of the spirit of prayer, whether uttered or unexpressed.

For it is a fearful thing to battle with, or change one jot, or little of the law, and none of it shall pass away till all be fulfilled, saith the Lord of Hosts.

We may build stately temples, write volumes, erect monuments, criticize persons and things, to a certain extent, and perhaps, nearly turn the world upside down, but one cannot with impunity construe the Bible to suit the mass, he must reconcile the people to the Bible. J. E. S. K.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK.

Moses M. Russell.

On Tuesday morning, April 27th, Moses M. Russell, one of the oldest residents of the town of Woodstock, passed away at the home of his son, E. S. Russell, after an illness of about two weeks.

Previous to his last illness he had been in his usual good health and had just finished fitting up the winter's supply of wood.

Mr. Russell was born in Newry, Sept. 23, 1824. His father, Luke Russell, died when Mr. Russell was but a boy. Little is known of his death for it occurred in Orono long before the days of steam and the telegraph and no one knows today where he is buried. After his father's death he came to Woodstock and did chores for his board.

He lived for a time at Dan Day's and attended school at what was known as the Center school.

While a young man he went to Lowell, Mass., and worked in the cotton mills, where he met the girl who afterward became his wife, Eveline Sheldon of Simonsville, Vt.

While in Lowell he hauled the first load of lumber to put up the first frame building ever erected in Lawrence. After his marriage he ran the town farm and brick yard in Shirley, Mass., for a few years and then moved to Woodstock, where he settled on Hillings Hill and has lived in this same town for nearly 60 years.

His first wife died July 5, 1881. He remained single for a number of years and then married Mrs. Abbie Billings for his second wife. He had spent the greater part of the time for the past 20 years with his son, Edwin. He leaves, beside his wife, one half brother, James Billings of Bethel, one niece, Mrs. Lillian Wentworth of Rollinsford, N. H., and one nephew, Edwin S. Russell of South Woodstock, with whom he has made his home for a number of years.

There is hardly a face that will be more missed. A lifelong resident of the town he knew everyone and could tell the family history of almost any family in the town. He always had a funny story and a good word for all. He was affectionately known by everyone either as "Uncle Mose" or "Uncle Moses."

He was always a favorite with the children and many a gray haired man who has a family now can remember when "Uncle Mose" gave him a lift as a boy.

For years he has been a member of Mt. Abram Lodge, No. 31, I. O. O. F., of Bethel, and was one of the most enthusiastic of Odd Fellows, and this winter attended one of the big meetings and banquets at South Paris, where he was as lively as the youngest. He has always been a hardy, rugged man, and worked out haylog only last summer. His bright, genial face will be much missed for "Uncle Mose" has gone to his reward after a long life of faithful service.

F. E. Davis is painting his house. Lyman Beck is quite poorly this spring.

Mrs. G. W. Q. Perham has been sick with a bad cold.

F. E. Davis and wife, Ethlyn Davis and G. W. Q. Perham attended Pomona at Bethel.

Chester Becker has moved his family to G. L. Whitman's and they will make their home there at present.

Oxford Supreme Court.

May Term, 1909.

Hon. A. R. Savage, Justice Presiding. The court opened on Tuesday at ten o'clock a. m. and a large number of cases were marked for trial.

The first one set down for trial was the action of Wm. L. Farrar against Dr. Alfred King. This case was begun before a drawn jury of which David G. Lovejoy, esq., of Bethel was appointed foreman on Wednesday morning, after the traverse jurors had been empaneled. Henry J. Bangs, esq., of Norway was one of the first jury and James R. Hill, esq., of Brownfield of the second jury.

W. L. Gray, esq., junior counsel for Mr. Farrar, opened the case to the jury and made a fine address, which took about half an hour.

He stated that this action was not strictly one called mal-practice but one of negligence in unskillfully leaving in the wound performed for gall stones some of the septic gauze used in the operation.

The damages claimed are set at $10,000.

The trial will probably take two days. With Mr. Gray for the plaintiff is Judge Foster, and with Mr. Bangs for defendant is Gen. Mattocks. This will be the most important and interesting case tried at this term.

At the conclusion of the opening the plaintiff's wife, Dr. Nettie, Bradbury and Thompson were called as witnesses for the plaintiff and sworn.

At the conclusion of the evidence of the plaintiff, counsel for the defense asked for a non-suit on the ground that the operation was performed as an accommodation and was done with instruments and accessories not the defendant's.

The motion was sustained by the court and a non-suit ordered.

Plaintiff filed exception and the case was marked for law term.

On Thursday morning, the case of Deputy Sheriff Harris L. Elliott of Rumford vs. Matthew S. McCarthy went on trial.

This is a case of alleged libel from public utterance made by the defendant during the last political campaign regarding the enforcement of the liquor laws in Rumford.

The Biggest Fish.

The ice having gone-out of nearly all the lakes and streams, the people who have been housed in the winter will be getting into "God's own out-of-doors" and breathe again the pure air of the country, banishing the blues and dyspepsia, and giving a fellow such an appetite as will enable him to relish "heavy vittals."

In this State of Maine the tourists will find all they wish of the grand and beautiful in nature; the invalid the health he has sought for in vain in other localities; the sportsman, large and small game in abundance; and speckled beauties without number will reward his efforts at all points in the lake region. Should he lose a big one by the breaking of a reel or leader, he will get consolation from the following lines by the immortal Eugene Field:

And, really, fish lovelier than they are before they're caught—
When the pole is bent into a bow and then the slender line is taut,
When a fellow feels his heart rise up like a doughnut in his throat,
And he lunges in a frenzy up and down the leaky boat!

Oh, you who've been a fishing will endorse me when I say That it always is the biggest fish you catch that gets away.

"Yes, even so in other things—yes, in our greedy eyes
The biggest boon's some flimsy, never-entire prize;
We angle for the honors and the sweets of human life,
Like the fishermen who brave the seas that roll in endless surges,
And then at last when all is done and we are spent and gray,
We own the biggest fish we've caught are those that got away."

I would not have it otherwise, 'tis better there than here
Much bigger fish than I have caught a swimming in the sea.
For now some worthless one than I may angle for that game,
May by his acts entice, entrap, and comprehend the same;
Which having done, perchance he'd bless the man who'd let him go,
That the biggest fish he ever caught were those that got away."

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Valley Spring Lodge, No. 104, celebrated its fifth anniversary on Friday evening, May 7th, at Grange hall.

Twenty-eight couples participated in the dancing and a number of friends attended as spectators and listeners to the beautiful music furnished by the trio of sisters representing the noted Robinson family orchestra of Bridgton, the titular leader, Delmore Robinson, being unavoidably absent and his fine clarinet playing thus sensibly missed.

But the combination of violin, cornet and piano by Misses Leah, Gladys and Hazel, so tuneful and brilliant, gave no cause for dissatisfaction, and the pleasure and inspiration thereby given was almost the principal feature of the ball. The committee of arrangements were: Horace C. Smith, Will Kingman and Willis Learned.

The floor director, L. Rexford Rounds with aids, Leon York, M. E. Perry, W. E. Abbott and Myron Keen.

The Knights and ladies present, including a number of visiting guests were: L. Rexford and Mrs. Dora Rounds, Leon York, Mrs. Myrtle York and daughter, Hazel, William E. and Mrs. Abbott and Arnold Abbott, Horace C. and Mrs. Linnie Smith, Charlie and Hattie Smith, Elbridge and Mrs. Newcomb and Walter Newcomb, William Kingman, Arthur Kingman, Harold Noble, Marion Noble, Willis Learned, Carroll Sanborn.

The Knights and ladies present, including a number of visiting guests were: L. Refreshment of ice cream and cake were served in the banquet hall by the committee, assisted by Mrs. Linnie, Charlie and Hattie Smith.

Cow Testing Association.

The monthly meeting of the Waterford and Norway Cow-testing association on Wednesday, May 5th, all day was of notable interest. Since the union of the dairy interests of the two towns was effected, the Association seems to have taken to higher views of the nature of its functions as an educator, and to a deeper and more thorough consideration of the possibilities dependent upon a resolute prosecution of its work in diffusing new light and enthusiasm the minds of its willing patrons. President L. E. McIntire conducted the public exercises and a fair attendance of dairy men and their wives, sons and daughters were present at the opening of the forenoon session.

The subject of the principal discussion, proposed, and laid over from March 1st, was "The kind and quality of rations fed," and the results as found by the tester; cost of feed, both home grown and that purchased in the market. E. B. Hersey and P. H. Morse of Waterford were appointed to lead the discussion and both presented accurate reports of feeding practice for month of April as follows:

8 lbs. mixed hay per day at $15 per ton... $.08
8-10 lbs. cotton seed meal, 4 lbs. corn meal, 1-10 lbs. bran... $.14

Results.
13 lbs. milk per day tested to 6-10 per cent... $.30
Equal to 10-12 lbs. milk per day... $.20
Butter sold at 25c per lb... $.20

Total milk April 10... 127-1-10 lbs.
Total fat... 49-100 lbs.
Average test... 15-100 lbs.
Cost of feed per day... $.12-12
Cost of one lb. fat... $.25
Cost of one lb. milk... $.02

P. H. Morse... 11 cows
Total milk per day... 107-10 lbs.
Average test... 15-100 lbs.
Cost of feed per day... $.12-12
Cost of one lb. fat... $.25
Cost of one lb. milk... $.02

The afternoon session was occupied by a discussion of the comparative values of different forage crops—corn fodder, oats and peas, barley and corn, clover and timothy. Pres. McIntire gave account of an experiment in raising a crop of barley in broke-up sward after having seed sown July 25-2 bushels to the acre and had a good crop. Barley considered more valuable than oats for late feed. V. E. Dunn of Norway said: "Feed your beasts to the cows and your turkeys to young stock and sheep."

B. Walker McKean of Fryeburg read a paper on the subject of handling run-out fields and gave some practical examples of treatment of such lands. His remarks on other subjects were also very instructive and well appreciated.

Prof. Leon S. Merrill, State dairy instructor, gave an address full of valuable points pertaining to the matter of breeding associations for improvement of the butter-making quality of dairy animals, both as to cows and sires.

A proposition to organize a Jersey Breeding Association resulted in the formation of the following group of breeders for Oxford and part of Cumberland county: Chas. W. Farrington, Fryeburg Center; W. H. Evans, North Bridgton; Wm. H. Young, Virgil E. Dunn, Bethel, Me.; and D. M. King, South Paris.

A. L. Sanderson, Clayton McIntire, C. S. Hamlin, B. Tucker, Chas. Hersey were nominated to accept an offer from the department of agriculture of the State to pay the incidental expenses of the raising by each a better calf until maturity, or period of dropping the first calf. This competition is expected to be both interesting and valuable in results to the association.

Clayton McIntire gave by request his method of raising superior heifer calves. He said: "Take calf away from mother when about a week old and give a small quantity of its mother's milk, gradually increasing quantity for a week. Then add a little skimmed milk until calf is taking all skimmed milk. A small amount of some light kind of grain should be given with all the good hay it will eat. As to feeding dairy cows the milk substituted for human milk, for oat hay which produced a greater flow of milk and more butter fat, at the same time reducing the cost of butter fat .001 per pound."

The next meeting will be Wednesday, June 2, at 9 o'clock P. M. at Fryeburg, Maine. Benj. Tucker will give an address on the subject of dairy cows with reference to his own herd.

Mayor Hebbard of Boston is in Harrison for a week in hopes of recovering from a throat trouble. His confidential secretary, William A. Boudrat, is with him.

RUMFORD.

Boat Capsized.

Monday evening, a party of young people started to cross the river to hang a May-bark on a school-mate. Scott Martin and George Abbott went to Martin's boat, while the ferryman, W. B. Barker, took Nellie Abbott, Laura Moody and Helen Hutchins, in another small boat.

By some means, Barker's boat capsized, Miss Moody clung to Martin's boat and was put ashore and sent for help, while the other three were rescued from the Point side of the river.

Mr. Barker was reported slightly injured and the girls all right, after their marvelous escape from drowning.

Further particulars—The boat had been capsized by logs and the ferry cable so they with all haste went to the rescue in the ferry boat. All this time there were four young people struggling to keep from drowning. Nellie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Abbott, was being held up by Will Barker, who had caught hold of the wire cable. It was hard for her to hold on for a long time, and both she and Miss Abbott were very weak when they were taken out of the water.

Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchins, caught hold of the cable too, and went hand over hand toward the ferry boat, but she was unable to hold on. The water all right, seeming none the worse for her cold bath. Laura, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moody, in the mean time had disappeared. The boat was found to have been capsized by logs and the ferry cable so they with all haste went to the rescue in the ferry boat. All this time there were four young people struggling to keep from drowning. Nellie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Abbott, was being held up by Will Barker, who had caught hold of the wire cable. It was hard for her to hold on for a long time, and both she and Miss Abbott were very weak when they were taken out of the water.

Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchins, caught hold of the cable too, and went hand over hand toward the ferry boat, but she was unable to hold on. brane by the air passing into the lungs. The stiff hairs in the nasal openings strain out the coarser dust particles, while the finer dust and germ-laden specks adhere to the mucous walls of the nostrils or pharyngeal cavities, and are easily demonstrated by blowing the nose after an hour's work in the dust.

The warming and moistening of the air thus prevents the entrance into the bronchi of cold dry, dusty air which would irritate to the delicate lining of the lungs.

In the case of the mouth-breather, the protective influence of this warming, moistening and purifying process is lost. There is also a nasal secretion which helps to destroy the bacteria which enters with the air. The sense of smell, located in the nostrils, should also warn against the presence of poisonous air just as the sense of taste warns against undesirable food.

Mouth-breathing is taken in the morning with open, dry mouth, foul smelling breath, persistent hoarseness, sometimes headaches and a loss of appetite. The physical expression is characteristic and indicates mental listlessness. The nose becomes pinched and the nostrils become thickened and the upper lip is shortened so that the upper front teeth show; the inner corner of the eyes being drawn down, the eyelids droop, and give a long-drawn appearance to the face.

The upper jaw becomes deformed; the palate being high and arched, and the two sides of the jaw being too close together, the upper front teeth are pushed forward.

There is a pathetic vacant expression to the face; the eyes are dull; the mouth is usually held more or less widely open; rounded shoulders are usually present and there is a generally sluggish appearance in the child's attitude. On account of the nasal obstruction the lungs are insufficiently expanded and the chest assumes the characteristic deformity called pigeon breast, the lower part of the chest and the sides being depressed and the breast bone becoming unusually prominent.

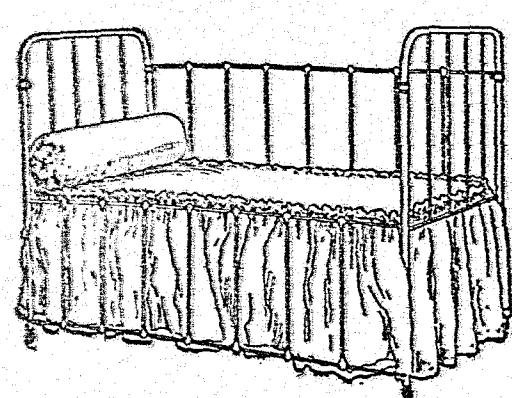

The lack of oxygen causes a fall in the number of red blood-cells, from the normal (100 per cent) to 70 or 60 per cent, often less; and a diminution of the coloring-matter of the blood by one third, or even one-half. When normal breathing is restored and the lungs are properly ventilated by removal of the nasal obstruction there is brought about a gradual improvement in the quality of the blood.

The voice has a wooden, muffled, or dead sound with a nasal twang, due to the loss of the nose as a resonating chamber.

The removal of adenoids has frequently cured stuttering or stammering. When such a result has occurred it is probable that the stammering was due to a reflex irritation causing spasmodic contraction of the muscles of the throat.

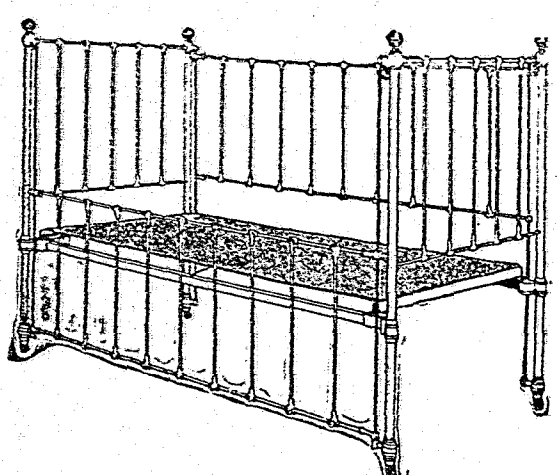

Spasmodic croup is another result of reflex irritation associated with adenoid growths. A spasmodic cough may be so severe that it

NORTH WATERFORD.

Supper and Entertainment.

A large company gathered at I. O. O. F. hall Saturday evening for a supper and entertainment. The supper was a proof of the culinary skill of the ladies of North Waterford. But the entertainment was a good panacea for the gloomy feeling. One laughed without knowing it.

The first number on the program was a song, "When the Whippoorwill sings," by Geraldine and Annie York. Then a tableau was announced as "A Welcome Sight to Teddy When He Returns from His African Trip." It proved to be two beautiful silk flags crossed in the center of the stage, a welcome sight to anyone. Ralph Knight in his "cocked hat and feather," cantering across the stage on a spotted pony, made a very cute "Yankee Doodle." All enjoyed the reading by Mrs. Rosa York, and the tableau, "Rock of Ages," posed by Annie York, with little Louise Knight as the Angel.

The mirth began with the illustrated song, "Everybody Works but Father." Mother and sister Ann were washing with great energy, the oldest boy was churning an up and down churn, and the youngest rocking the cradle, while "father" is taking his ease. The tableau, "Ups and Downs of Life," showed two well-known and by no means slender matrons of the village on a see-saw board.

The "Fancy-dress Ball" should have been seen to be appreciated. It is safe to say that such costumes and such steps were never before seen at a masquerade. The last number on the program was another song by the Misses York. The entertainment reflected great credit on the ladies in charge.

On Saturday evening, May 22d, the Woman's Relief Corps will serve an anti-quarian supper at the vestry of the Congregational church, the proceeds to be used for Memorial purposes. The menu will consist of brown bread and beans, baked Indian pudding, "oiled dinner," twisted doughnuts, gingerbread such as mother used to make, pies of all kinds and other good dishes of "ye ancient time." It is expected the ladies of the Corps will be costumed in the gowns of their grandmothers.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance, indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Concrete inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Maine Rifle Practice.

The rifle practice order for the national guard of Maine, just issued, officially designates the season to begin April 19 and end Oct. 31. The qualifications will be made in accordance with the 1908 revision of the small arms regulations, United States army and organized militia, except as modified.

The season issue of rifle ammunition will be 5,000 rounds to each company of infantry, with an additional issue of 1,000 rounds to any company which, prior to Sept. 1, attains a figure of merit of 75 or better. Any company which on Sept. 30 has attained a figure of 100 will be entitled to an additional 1,000 rounds. Any company which does not attain a figure of 75 by Sept. 1 but does attain a figure of 100 by Sept. 30, will be entitled to an additional issue at that time of 2,000 rounds. Each division of the naval reserve will be entitled to 3,000 rounds, and an additional 1,000 rounds by attaining a figure of $5 prior to Sept. 30. To each officer and enlisted man to whom the revolver is issued, 200 rounds of revolver ammunition will be issued.

Those qualifying under special course "C" will receive instead of the same pattern as issued to the regular army, but made of bronze. But one medal for rifle qualification and one for the revolver will be worn, each to be the highest which the wearer has earned. Medals won in competitions may be worn, but the number is limited to three in all.

Onion Seed.

Onion seeds need to be put in as early as the ground can be fitted. Before they are sown the seed should be tested by sowing a small quantity in a box in the house, or a better way would be to place the seed between two folds of cloth which should be kept moist and in a warm place. In a few days the seed will sprout and an observation will show how many of them are good. If the seed is so poor that no more than one-third of it germinates, it will be better to throw it all away and buy new, as, if so much of it does not sprout at all, it is probable that such as does sprout will have so far lost its vitality as to give but a weak and feeble plant that will not grow well after it comes up.

The pullets to be used for egg producing next winter should be all hatched by the end of April or middle of May, and it is more to be soon to begin to prepare for their coming. The best producing pullets are hatched from yearling hens of good vigor and laying qualities that descend in the line from females of equal excellence. Chance shots may produce quality in an individual, but proper line breeding is the only way to assure success.

Maine moth fighters will be interested to learn that Prof. L. O. Howard of Washington, entomologist of the department of agriculture, plans to visit Europe for the purpose of seeking an efficient parasite for the destruction of the brown-tail moth, which has become so much of a pest in this State and New England. He is to confer with several eminent European entomologists in the hope of discovering the relief which he cannot find on this side of the water.

HIGH-O-ME.
That's the Way to Pronounce Hyomei the Money-Back Catarrh Cure.

As doubt exists in the minds of many readers of the Norway ADVERTISER let us say that the above is the proper pronunciation of America's most wonderful catarrh cure. Frank Kimball, proprietor of Noyes Drug Store, is the agent for Hyomei in Norway and he will sell you an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei, and full instructions for use, for only $1.00.

And if it fails to cure acute or chronic catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, croup, hay fever or coughs and colds, he will give you your money back. The person who suffers from catarrh after such an offer as that, must like to snuff, spit and wheeze, and be generally disgusting.

Read what Mr. G. F. Lowe says: "I have used Hyomei for a case of nasal catarrh which had bothered me for a long time. I can say that Hyomei killed the germs of the disease and gave me the much sought and needed relief. From this experience I know Hyomei to be a reliable remedy, and I give it the praise and recommendation that it deserves."—G. F. Lowe, R. F. No. 7, Allegan, Mich., September 19, 1908. 18c20.

Gen. Ingalls of Denmark.

This ancestral house of Gen. Ingalls is pleasantly situated in the quiet but thriving village of Denmark, Norway, in that part of Oxford county in southwestern Maine, which joins the western boundary of Cumberland county. Denmark is a farming town of nearly 800 inhabitants.

The Ingalls homestead was the ancestral abode of that eminent soldier, Major General Rufus Ingalls.

Rufus Ingalls was born on the homestead farm in 1820. His father, Cyrus Ingalls, was a farmer and one of the early settlers of the township, which was settled in 1788 and incorporated in 1807. Rufus was the youngest of fourteen children, all of whom are dead. It was an intellectual, smart family, and among the children Cyrus the oldest was a prominent citizen and politician; and Jonathan, who died recently at Bridgton, was a veteran sheriff and business man through the political influence of his brother Cyrus, the youngest. Rufus was appointed a cadet at West Point, which he entered in 1849. It was a notable class of which Rufus became a member, including quite a number who became famous in the Civil War both on the Union and Confederate sides. Of this class and the other classes who were fellow cadets of Ingalls, were Generals Grant, Sherman, Burnside, Thomas, McClellan, Franklin, Longstreet, Pope, Hancock, Cochrans, Libbey, Richard Anderson, Crittenden, Lovell, and Porter, C. P. Stone, Tower and others.

Grant and Ingalls were roommates, as well as classmates and were then and thereafter, and until their death, devoted friends, and they were comrades in the Mexican and Civil War. Grant died at Mt. McGregor, N. Y., July 23, 1885, aged 63; Ingalls died in New York city, Jan. 14, 1893, at the age of 73.

Rufus Ingalls had an honorable record as a cadet in the United States military academy at West Point, and as a member of Gen. Harney's staff, took part in the "San Juan affair."

His record as quartermaster general of the armies of the Potomac and the James in the Civil War is a proud one. He was, in fact, Grant's right hand man, and it is a matter of history that he would have been given command of one of the best armies had he so desired.

The Ingalls farmhouse is essentially the same as it was when Cyrus Ingalls, the father, and his helpmeet were toiling and struggling to make an honest living for themselves and their numerous progeny. When it came into the possession of the general, he made desirable improvements in the manner of repairs, painting, etc; and this good work was continued by Augustus Ingalls, postmaster and mill-man, a nephew of the general.

The main house, the longell and carriage house are of wood, painted white and have green blinds. Near the latter building, with a cattle yard between, is a typical Maine barn, which is likewise kept painted in good repair. In the front lawn are a graceful fir and three tall elms, which, as the buildings face the south, afford a grateful shade in the hot months.

The broad street, which runs past the homestead is a section of the old stage road from Bridgton (through Denmark) to Brownfield, and just at this point, at a right angle, starts what is known as the "South Road."

On a bit of greenward in front of the house is a pagoda-shaped structure, which was built for and some years used as a band stand. There, within its latticed area, the Denmark Brass Band was wont to entertain the public with its excellent music. That period was the golden age of rural bands; but this commendable fad, like the Roman empire, had its decline and fall, and the Denmark band as such is a thing of the past.

Over the ell is seen, a fine picture, the crest of Pleasant Mountain, only a short distance away, and which is much frequented by outing and picnic parties, is especially sought in blueberry time and which affords a wide and magnificent prospect.

In this connection, it is of interest to state that Denmark is the birthplace of two of the most noted men in America, Rufus Ingalls and Gov. Hazen S. Pingree of Michigan. Jasper Pingree, father of the famous mayor and governor, was kept prisoner at the home of Hazen in Detroit. Unlike the ancestral Ingalls home, the Pingree farmhouse has vanished. The farms though not contiguous, are not a great way apart.

Whatever fame and fortune Maine men may win abroad, it is a rule with scarcely an exception that their love for the old boyhood home is a deep and enduring one. This is true of Gen. Ingalls and Gov. Pingree, each of whom a few years before his death, made the long journey from Oregon and Michigan to his native place.

NAILLES.

The river men are busily at work, driving logs near Edes' Falls, also in the Tongue river.

The Bay of Naples boat line are running a boat regularly from Sebago lake to the mouth of the Tongue river. The water in Long lake is the highest it has been for years, and the ice has done much damage to boat-houses and wharves.

Geo. A. Graves of Boston, the well known horse man, and owner of Combination Park, Medford, Mass., has been spending a few days at Chase, Oregon. It is rumored about that he intended to take back a few well bred horses or colts, but the ones that met with his fancy could not be bought. It would seem, however, that with some of the well bred mares that we now have, and with the opportunity to breed to Solon O. one of the best bred sons of Burgen, that in a year or two we might have some youngsters to meet with the demands.

Memorial Day.

As the years pass the truth is more and more being impressed upon the consciousness of the nation and of the individual that Memorial day is changing and shifting in its character. Once it was designed as the occasion when men who fought for the nation's integrity might pay honor to their dead comrades in arms, thus stimulating the patriotic spirit of the whole people and keeping alive the memory of those who died for their country.

As the seasons pass and as the spring-times return this function of remembering the dead of army and navy is being placed in other hands. Those of another generation are taking up the sacred duty and carrying it onward to everlasting earthly remembrance.

Since Memorial day of one year ago only, many of the old veterans who marched in line to the burial places of earth to place flowers upon the graves of their comrades are now sleeping forever in the sleep of the soldiers in glory and other hands are turning to them the tribute of loyal memory.

It will not be many years before the last of the veterans of the 60s shall have joined the ranks of those thus honored in this occasion. It is inconceivable, however, that Memorial day will ever cease to be observed by a grateful nation, even if every last veteran had been called to the hereafter. Rather will it continue in even more potent and devout significance as the memories in truth, all personal participation ended and only the gratitude of a preserved country remaining.

Thus a national institution will have developed, founded upon a lasting and noble basis.

Other wars may possibly come as one was already fought in recent years, to add to the reasons for the custom of annually decorating our soldiers' graves and throwing flowers to the everlasting memory of those who went down in its cold and silent depths in defense of the flag. Nor is it impossible to conceive that other deeds of sacrifice and valor will be performed to make history and to inspire followers of coming generations with the sacredness of devotion to country, to home and to native land.

Even in very recent years there has been a broader significance of the sacred duty of this day. Less than a decade ago the United States engaged in a war of humanity with another power. This made a new yet common meeting-ground for the sections once riven by that civil strife which gave birth to the original inception of this memorial celebration.

As this day is closed by a common experience or by a common grief, so a broader conception of national unity has come to us. Memorial day will grow in importance as one of the fundamentals of the republic. Born of a desire to perpetuate the services of the men who fought against their own brothers, their own countrymen, it is more and more becoming a means towards preventing misunderstanding and promoting understanding of the strife of states. It is more and more cementing us as one grand, noble, strong nation, devoted to the good of humanity, the spread of intelligence and the glory of Christian citizenship.

Forest Fires.

Maine is placarding her forests from the coast to Canada with cautions against fires, but something more forcible than warnings may be necessary to keep them intact. Boston Transcript.

As an example of "English as she is writ," sometimes, in Boston, this is illuminating. Nevertheless, the average seeker after wisdom will wonder whether it is the forest or the cautions that are in the way of being kept intact.—[Bridgton Journal.]

Should a racing, roaring, up-to-date forest fire get going with great momentum in a dry spell, we doubt if either the forests or the placards are kept intact.

Obeying Orders.

"Now," said the magistrate, "you must testify only to what you know, no hearsay evidence. Under-stand?" "Yes, sir," replied the female witness. "Your name is Mary Bright, I believe. Now, what's your age?" "I won't tell you, I have only hearsay evidence on that point."

To Press Old Ribbon.

First brush out all dust and threads and if it is badly wrinkled dip in water; then press by holding the iron perfectly still and firm and drawing the ribbon under it until perfectly dry and smooth. Moving the iron along leaves it stiff and harsh.

Want to be strong?

Eat more Quaker Oats. Eat it for breakfast every day. This advice is coming from all sides as a result of recent experiments on foods to determine which are the best for strength and endurance. It has been proved that eaters of Quaker Oats and such cereals are far superior in strength and endurance to those who rely upon the usual diet of heavy, greasy foods.

When all is said and done on the cereal food question, the fact remains that for economy and for results in health and strength, Quaker Oats stands first of all. It is the most popular food in the world among the foods sold in packages.

All grocers carry Quaker Oats. It sells at 10c for the regular size package, 25c for the large size family package and 30c for the family package containing a fine piece of china.
